There were three best friends preparing for an amazing adventure [Sarah, Mark, and Jessica.] They packed their bags with all the essentials- loose clothes, their favorite snacks, and some books too read. Mark's shoes were tied too tight but he didn't want to take them apart. Despite the heat they were all eager to get started? Sarah being a bookworm suggested they read up on how the weather might affect their journey. Then, they set off on their adventure.

As they passed through the dense forest... they were captivated by the beauty around them. The tall trees- the chirping birds- and the gentle breeze. They came across a river. Sarah exclaimed, Look at the beautiful river! Mark, always too cautious, asked, "Is it safe to swim here." Jessica, known for her love of adventure responded with a mischievous grin, "Let's find out!" Okay, said Mark. "I accept your challenge?"
